Director's Note:

Directing an original play with 25 people in it posed many interesting challenges. Often we asked ourselves, can we do this and get away with it? With this particular original, the Wild West Arizona sky was NOT our limit, it was merely our starting point. Everyone worked hard to push it to the edge and still ask, "how much further can we take this and still be funny." It turned out to be not the sky, but the stars, were our starting point. No one said, "We can't do that!" They took their ideas and reached for the sky. This cast of "characters" was this directors "dream cast". Thank you everyone.
